Just the Man.

CRICAGO, November 2. The new commissioner, G. W. Ristine, is a man of extensive rathroad experience, and is known as a remarkably cool, clear-headed man. He first became generally known as founder of the Empire line, which he built up to a handsome property. He then accepted the position of assistant to the President of the Denver & Rio Grande road, and later General Superintendent of the entire system. He resigned to become General Manager of the Texas & St. Louis road, where he has established a reputation whose direct fruits are seen in the tender of this situation. About two weeks ago he left the Texas & St. Louis on the plea that he was thoroughly tired out and he said he proposed to rest until January. The position of Assistant General Manager of the Denver & Rio Grande has been offered Mr. Ristine and the offer wabeing favorably considered. He has at least two other good offers under consideration, either of which would be equally desirable with the California Pool Commissionership. The unievrsal verdict among railroad men is that the choice is an exceedingly good one. The position has been generally regarded as a most difficult one to fill and some doubt has been expressed as to the possibility of finding a man to successfully wrestle with the giant. Ristine's selection had the elfect of creating some surprise that he was not thought of before, as he is known to be eminently qualified for the place'

Northern Pacific.

ST. PAUL, November 1. General Manager Haupt of the Northern Pacific Railroad, says his resignation was entirely due to the policy of radical retrenchment adopted by the Northern Pacific Company, which practically tied his hands and prevented the proper running of the road. In explaining the cause of the expenses being so much in excess of the receipts, General Haupt said the construction department turned the road over to the operating department in a very incomplete condition, the rails having been laid so badly, that though trains can be run over the road, they cannot be run with any degree of safety or speed. In the pursuance of the retrenchment policy, the Vic President of the road will act as General

A Good Appointment

CINCINNATI, November 2. Judge Foraker has been appointed by the United States Circuit Court. counsel for the Receiver of the Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

The commissioner of the United States renews his recommendation that the pre-emption law be repealed, and the homestead act be amended; also the total repeal of the timber culture law. On the desert land act he finds entries have stone land act is flagrantly violated.

The disposal of public land during the year embraced 19,073,789 acres and Indian lands, 398,235 acres, making the increase over 1882 of about 5,000,000 acres, and over 1881 of about 8,000,000 acres. Receipts from all sources were $11,-088,479, and from sales of Indian lands, $625,404; total, $11,713,883.

The annual report of the Paymaster General of the Army to the Secretary of War, shows the receipts for the last fiscal year, $15,490,310; disbursements, $13,382,164. The remainder has been deposited in the Treasury. Since the last report, five officers of the pay department have been retired, having attained the age of 64: one died, and one has been dismissed. for misappropriating public funds.

Hon. William S. Holman, of Indiana, has written a letter announcing his intention to retire from Congress, after a service of many years, at the expiration cial speculation, to hazard the price of his present term. If he holds any official position hereafter, he says it will be only at the instance of the people, from Nevada will be either John P. and not from his own desire. Jones or a Democrat.

THE U. S. ARMY.

General Sherman's Interesting Information in Regard to it.

The last annual report of General Sherman is in the hands of the Secthose of last year. General Sherman considers the Crook-Apache camd at some length, and the opinion is expressed that the military academy it West Point and the schools at Forts Monroe and Leavenworth, are among the best military schools in he world. The Indians are regarded as substantially eliminated from the problem of army activity, and while be army and immigration have contributed largely to this result, the (attroad has had greater influence The recent completion of the last four great trans-continental railroads has tettled for ever the Indian question. he army question and many others which hitherto have troubled the sountry. The General regards the building of these roads as the most mportant event of modern times, and believe that they account fully for the pace, good order and prosperity of the country. The recommenda ion of last year is renewed; that the strongest points have been enlarged and minor places abandoned. "The oldiers," says General Sherman, "must be treated as a fellow man. Let him live in comfort and he will ployed as a carpenter, mechanic, or abover, it is only fair that he should be paid for such labor." Because of the transfer of the command to General Sheridau, no recommenda ious for the future are made other han renewing such as were made in former reports; the opinion is expressed, however, that it would be found wise to provide a common or ganization for all army service, and that Congress should provide for the ransfer of regiments from remote to tome sections after a fair period of service. In this connection particular attention is called to the case of he Twenty first Infantry, which has neen on the Pacific Coast fourteen years. The General hopes that Con gress will not withhold the means of ransportation in such case, especi illy now, when the Treasury is group ing under the surplus revenue caused on the past by the conduct of the very men who appeal to them; for he believes the army has protected, decembed and excouraged the building of the trans-ocutinental railways and he settlement of the Great West, which are the chief causes of the our land.

The elected in 1885 will be either J P track was in magnificent condition. Jones or a Democrat. This conclu sion is based entirely upon the writer's observation, uninfluenced by his personal feelings or preferences or by political considerations or prejudices. Whether deserving or not of such special distinction from fore the horses were called, Frank and his party or the people of the State, John Nay sold for $50 to $40 and $35 | he is certainly the only Republican and then even. After the first hear in Nevada who has a pronounced following, or whose claims are advocated Winship and Hiram Bruce. The latter by any considerable number of per sons. This, in our opinion settles the question so far as the Republican party is concerned, for, with the sup port of those two men his election is insured, in the event of his party having a majority in the two branches of the next Legislature. Then, too, he will have the active support of the Federal officials in the State, which in a small Commonwealth like this is no insignificant factor in his favor He is not supposed to be bordened been largely made for speculative with a surplus of cash, but he will purposes with no intention of reclation. He says the timber and stone land act is flagrantly violated. advantageously on the day of election, and he is not hkely to get the worst of it in any pooling arrangement that may be made for the benefit of the general ticket. With Mackay and Sharon out of the held, there is but little likelihood of there being a prononneed eack oundidate for the Senstorship, and the fight will probably be made mainly upon the political issues of the day. The State is exceedingly close, and much will de pend upon the candillates and plat forms of the two National Conventions. The Democratic party has no one at present to center upon for a Senatorial fight, and candidates for the next Legislature will in all prob ability be nominated in most of the counties without regard to their pref. erences in that respect. If the party should have a majority upon joint ballot, there would undoubtedly be a prolonged period of caucusing before a choice would be settled upon, and where the nomination would fall, it would be folly to venture even a prophesy at the present time would be willing, however, asa figanof a year's subseciption to the Times Review upon our original proposition that the next United States Senator

Presidential Candidates.

[S. F. Call.]

If the chances of the two parties of carrying the Presidential election next year are correctly indicated by Sherman is in the hands of the need the number and eagerness of the retary of War. The army consists of the number and eagerness of the aspirants, the Democrats have the figures being almost identical with there can hardly be said to be a real aspirant for the nomination. There paign a success, and considers that if are enough who would accept it, but Crook is permitted to manage the they are not in the front rank. Most Apaches in his own way all wars will of them occupy the position of a man defeated. While defeat may raise a small man into prominence it belos a greater one to obscurity. There is no reasonable doubt of Blaine's will ingness to accept the nomination if he thinks he can be elected He knows, however, that with a united party at his back his election would not be certain, while defeat would be mevitable if an important element in be party should refuse to support him Hence the efforts made to re-concile the Biaine and Conkling fac tions. This may yet be done on the basis of Blaine this year and Conk ling in 1888, or even 1892. At the latter date Conking will be about 62, young enough yet for one or two terms in the coveled Presidential chair. To say of either of these men that he is not an aspirant is simply o class him with the great body of politicians who have no hope. They will both become aspirants the mo ment a chance of success appears. Of the minor names—Arthur, Edmunds, Logan, Lincoln, Sherman, Gresham, Harrison, etc., there is a long list to choose from Anyone respond to the call of duty even to might be elected if nominated if the he death. When the suldier is employers was relatively as strong as party was relatively as strong as it was in 1872, but no one of them can bring the ticket great positive strength. On the Democratic side prominent figures are more numerous. The impression is largely disseminated that a candidate who can command the party vote will be elected. This opens the field to almost any Democrat who has made a mark in local politics within the last two years. At the head of the aspirants who hope to run in on the strength of a local success are Cleveland and Hoadly Both of these aspirants have carried mates that voted for Garfield in 1880 Neither of them has won the place in the political field which warrants the mention of his name as Presidential candidate. Cleveland was hardly known out of this country a year ago Hoad'y has some advantage in the way of national reputation, but he is overshadowed by several Democrats in his own State. Though a very respectable candidate, his claim for a nomination will depend almost entirely upon the assumption that he could carry his own State The Democrats most acceptable to what is prosperity which now blesses termed the money power are Tilden on Commercial Row, is the place to buy proand Field The three possible can d dayes from Ladiana-M.
